

FEEDBACK SYSTEM

Session 2023-24

IQAC has made it a tradition to mandatorily collect feedback from students, alumni, parents, and teachers in each session through structured feedback online forms. The task is completed via Feedback Committee. During the session, the committee distributes and collects the online filled feedback forms and submits it to IQAC. Then, IQAC analyses and interprets the data and strives for taking further actions as per feedback report.

Objective: The objective of taking feedback is to determine the satisfaction levels of various stakeholders of the college and identifies scope for further improvement.

Methodology

- ♣ Collection of Data: The feedback is collected manually by circulating the feedback forms.
- ♣ Sampling: Efforts are being made to collect data through extensive sampling. Yet in some cases, it becomes difficult to approach to each student, alumni, and/or parents. So, a set of criteria is established for taking sample.

Analysis and Interpretation:

The data is analyzed through percentages. Charts and diagrams are prepared for easy understanding by using Microsoft Excel.

Meetings and Action Taken Report:

Based on the analysis, IQAC in consultation with principal, calls for meetings to discuss raised issues and suggestions. Necessary actions to be taken are decided accordingly. Likewise, action taken report is prepared.

Circulation of Action Taken Report:

The action taken report is circulated among the staff members through IQAC. Action taken report acts as a plan for the next academic year. Staff meetings and other committee meetings are then held to execute and implement the action plan.

- From the next part, analysis of feedback forms for Students, Alumni, Employee, and Teachers respectively are presented with appropriate explanations. At the end, action taken report is shown.

National Handloom Day is being celebrated on 7 August 2023. It is the day when the country honors its rich tradition of handloom weaving and recognizes the contribution of weavers to the cultural heritage of the country. The handloom industry has played an important role in the economy of India in providing livelihood to millions of weavers and artisans across the country. Addressing the students on this occasion, Principal of the college, Dr. Archana Jha said that on this day various programs and exhibitions are organized to show the beauty of handloom products and encourage people to buy them. The college teaches how to make Rakhi and jewelry from handloom cloth. It is important to consider the significance of this important day and the role of handloom weavers in preserving the indigenous culture of India. The rise of industrialization and mass production has threatened the livelihoods of many handloom weavers, and many have been forced to abandon their craft and find other work.

On this occasion, Academic Dean of the college, Dr. J. Durga Prasad Rao while addressing the students said that you can support the handloom industry by purchasing handloom products, promoting them on social media and encouraging others to do the same. National Handloom Day was first observed on 7 August 2015 to mark the Swadeshi movement of 1905.

On this occasion, a senior official of the Weavers Association said that the handloom industry in India contributes significantly to the country's economy. India is home to the largest number of handloom weavers in the world and more than 4.3 million people are engaged in the sector. More than 70% of all weavers in India are women. The handloom industry in India combines many weaving techniques passed down from generations. And the designs have a history. Handloom products are eco-friendly and sustainable as they are made using natural fibers and dyes. The handloom industry in India is highly decentralised, with weavers working in small groups across the country. This has resulted in a diverse range of handloom products, each with its own unique style and design. Handloom was an Indian heritage. The theme 'Handloom for Sustainable Fashion' highlighted the rich heritage of handloom and its importance in the Indian economy.

Topic : Extempore on topic “chat GPT”

No. of participants : 34

Total no. of Faculty : 04

EVENT REPORT :

By November 30, 2022 Chat GPT was initially launched which is a large language model-based chatbot developed by Open AI, enables users to refine and steer a conversation towards a desired length, format, style, level of detail and language. The students of computer science department of Shri Shankara Mahavidyalaya decided to hold an event to discuss and interact on the topic of “ChatGPT”. The event was hosted by students of BCA 1st year they shared their thoughts and opinions.

All the participants were invited to share their respective presentations. They also clarified about Chat GPT which evolved from 2022. Then the HOD of Computer Science Department concluded the event by sharing his thoughts on this topic and also thanked the students for showing their interest and making this event a success.

At last, we also enjoyed a game which was based on the concept of compiler, in which three students search for a thing but one person is blind folded and got instructions by the another person who can't see the location.....3rd person guide the 2nd person about the location.

OUTCOME

The generous conclusion that comes out from this session is that with chatGPT students can learn and grow in multiple ways through personalised assistance, instant feedback and plenty of information across various subjects. ChatGPT provides innovative ideas for assignments to learning new skills.

Day-2

Topic: Machine Learning Event

Date : 06/12/2023

Time : 10:30 am

No. of Participants : 58

Our 2nd day guest Dr. Smita Suresh Daniel “Professor of St. Thomas College” share some knowledge about Machine learning. She explains that in the real world, we are surrounded by humans who can learn everything from their experiences with their learning capability, and we have computers or machines which work on our instructions. But here Machine Learning plays an important role where a machine can also learn from experiences or past data like a human does. She added that the demand for machine learning is steadily rising. Because it is able to perform tasks that are too complex for a person to directly implement, machine learning is required.

OUTCOME

The major conclusion was that students got to know a lot about machine learning that it focused on building computer systems that learn from data. This event gives a basic knowledge about machine learning and its importance in our daily life.

By incorporating data science techniques into data, business gains a deeper understanding of their customer’s needs and develop more effective marketing campaigns. Data science approaches are used in digital marketing to collect, process, and analyze data to better understand customer behavior and preferences.

All the students of Computer Science department of Shri Shankaracharya Mahavidyalaya gathered to achieve the knowledge about the Data Science in digital marketing . The event was hosted by the students of BCA 1st year they shared their thoughts and opinions. More than 50 students participates in this event. Then the HOD of Computer Science Department concluded the event by sharing his thoughts on this topic and also thanked the students for showing their interest and making this event a success.

At last, we also enjoyed a game which was based on the concept of compiler, in which three students search for a thing but one person is blind folded and got instructions by the another person who can’t see the location.....3rd person guide the 2nd person about the location.

15 Days Certificate Training Programme On “GREEN SYNTHESIS OF NANOPARTICLES”

Name of the activity:

15 Days Certificate Training Programme On “GREEN SYNTHESIS OF NANOPARTICLES”

Department- Botany & Chemistry

Event date: 01/12/2023 – 15/12/2023

No. of Participants: 70

Event Report:

A 15-day certificate training program organized at Sri Sankaracharya Mahavidyalaya under the joint aegis of the Department of Botany and Chemistry from 1 December 2023 to 15 December 2023 on the topic - “Green Synthesis of Nanoparticles”, which concluded by awarding certificates to the students. This event was organized under the leadership of Ms. Varsha Yadav (Head of Department of Botany) and Mrs. Padma Rani Verma (Head of Department of Chemistry). In this training program, students were made aware about the concept of nanotechnology, approaches to nanoparticle synthesis and green synthesis of nanoparticles. In this program, the Principal of the college Dr. Archana Jha, Dean Academic of the college Dr. J Durga Prasad Rao, Head of the Department of Microbiology Dr. Rachna Chaudhary and the Head of the Department of Zoology Dr. Sonia Bajaj and other professors were specially present.

Outcome: In this 15-day event, students learned what a nanoparticle is, their synthesis from plants and how nanoparticles can be beneficially used in our lives and their future possibilities were explained in detail. It develops therapeutic nanosized materials for biomedical and pharmaceutical applications. Chemical methods for the synthesis of nanoparticles require toxic chemicals, organic solvents and stabilizers as reducing agents, as a result, it causes toxicity in the environment. Therefore, except for their use in a variety of diagnostic and biomedical fields, a clean, reliable, biocompatible and eco-friendly green synthesis approach should be used for nanoparticle synthesis. In this way, plant-mediated synthesis of nanoparticles is considered more suitable. Biological synthesis of nanoparticles is being carried out by leaves, seeds, roots of various plants, bacteria, fungi, seaweeds and microalgae. Biosynthesized nanomaterials are effectively controlling various endemic diseases with minimal adverse effects. Plants contain abundant natural compounds such as alkaloids, flavonoids, saponins, steroids, tannins and other nutritional compounds.

EVENT REPORT

The Department of Mathematics at Shri Shankaracharya Mahavidyalaya, Junwani, Bhilai, is hosting a program sponsored by the Council of Science & Technology, Raipur, centered around the theme 'Creating Awareness Among Students about the Importance and Relevance of Mathematics in Contemporary Society'. The Mathematical Day event is being held in commemoration of the birth anniversary of Sri Nivasan Ramanujan.

On the occasion of Srinivasan Ramanujan's birthday, the Mathematics Department of Shri Shankaracharya Mahavidyalaya, Junwani Bhilai, organized 'Mathematical Day' on December 22, 2023. During this event, graduate students presented Nukkad Natak performances and PowerPoint presentations. They discussed renowned Indian mathematicians through various activities such as Nukkad Natak, Poster Competition, Static Model Exhibition, Workshops, and Projects. Aryabhata, the ancient Indian mathematician, is credited with the discovery of 'zero', while G.H. Hardy, who mentored Srinivasa Ramanujan, elucidated his contributions to number theory and mathematical analysis. The students also highlighted the concept of twin primes, explained as prime numbers differing by two, and showcased the significant contributions of mathematicians through PowerPoint presentations. They emphasized India's rich mathematical heritage, attributing the invention of zero to Indian mathematicians like Aryabhata, Brahmagupta, Ramanujan, Shakuntala Devi, and Neena Gupta, who earned global recognition for their work. Additionally, demonstrations of tools such as age and currency calculators, as well as Vedic mathematics, were facilitated through QR codes. A sketch of the eminent mathematician Srinivasan Ramanujan was exhibited as well, and students received training on utilizing QR codes. Dr. Archana Jha, the college principal, commended the professors for the program's success and encouraged students to organize similar events on other important subjects in the future.

Dr. J. Durga Prasad Rao, the Academic Dean of the college, expressed appreciation for the students who participated in the program and extended his congratulations to them. Mrs. Preeti Srivastava, the Head of the Mathematics Department, delivered the vote of thanks. A significant turnout of students, including Ms. Lavanjika Sahu and Assistant Professors from the Mathematics Department, marked their presence at the event.

➤ On 22 Dec 2023

The Mathematics Department organized Mathematical Day to commemorate the birthday of Srinivasa Ramanujan, featuring a PowerPoint presentation. During the program, students participated in group discussions, highlighting renowned Indian mathematicians. Aryabhata's contributions were discussed, including the discovery of zero, while Hardy's achievements in number theory and mathematical analysis were also elaborated upon; he served as a mentor to Srinivasa Ramanujan. The PowerPoint presentation underscored mathematicians' significant contributions to the field. Recognition was given to India for the invention of zero. Indian mathematicians such as Aryabhata, Brahmagupta, Ramanujan, and Shakuntala Devi earned global acclaim for their work. Additionally, a poster featuring the esteemed mathematician Srinivasa Ramanujan was displayed. On December 23rd, the department organized a poster-making competition. Twenty-five students presented posters on various themes, including Srinivasa Ramanujan's contributions to mathematics, the history of Vedic mathematics, the role of mathematics in science and technology, the practical applications of mathematics in daily life, and the notable mathematicians of India.

➤ Outcome:

Mathematics plays an indispensable role in our daily lives. The primary objective of celebrating National Mathematics Day is to bolster self-confidence among students. Mathematics exhibitions serve as a catalyst not only for enhancing the abilities of gifted children but also for instigating desired improvements in average and slow learners. For those who may have lost interest in mathematics due to its abstract nature, such exhibitions have the potential to alter their attitudes by presenting concepts in a more tangible manner. Students can create engaging models and demonstrations, thereby making mathematical concepts more accessible and appealing. Moreover, there is a high likelihood of receiving appreciation from those who view these models and appreciate the creative work of both students and teachers. This, in turn, inspires students to approach their work with greater enthusiasm and self-assurance. We extend our best wishes for a bright future to all participants and express gratitude for their dedicated efforts.
